Angry Crowd Attacks the Home of Axel Selean.

FATHER HEADS INVADERS

POLICE QUELL A LIVELY NEIGH-BORHOOD DISTURBANCE,

A neighborhood vendetta arising over the thrashing of a young boy was fought to a disastrous finish with brick-bats and cobblestones in northern part of the city last night. The whipping of the boy resulted in the whipping of the wielder of the lash and then ensued a free-for-all warfare that had to be quelled by the police. No one was badly injured but one house was budly damaged by flying house was budly damaged by flying missiles.

The trouble occurred at the home of Axel Selean at Hamilton and Dow streets, near St. Mark's hospital. A young boy by the name of Bates incurred the wrath of Selean by some of his alleged misconduct. Selean, in his exasperation, seized the lad and, it is claimed, vigorously plied his boot to the boy's pistol pocket.

Young Bates carried the news to bis father and then there was trouble, according to the story of Selean. The enraged father and two of his neighbors formed themselves into an impromptu band of "whitecaps" and proceeded to Selean's house. Selean was ordered to come forth, but he barricaded himself behind his doors and refused to show up. Angered by this, the men seized some bricks and stones that lay in the yard and commenced a bombardment of the house. When they got through, there was hardly a window pane left and the house looked as if it had gone through the siege of Vicksburg. Selean was finally gotten out of the house and the men administered a sound thrashing to him.

out of the house and the men administered a sound thrashing to him.

In the midst of the excitement some of the neighbors called the police, informing them that a small riot was in progress. The patrol wagon carrying a number of officers made a run to the scene. When the assailants heard Chief Paul's "band wagon" coming, they decided it was time for them to make themselves scarce, and they did. When the officers alighted, only the evidences of the fray remained visible. The assailants of Selean took refuge in their houses and the officers claim that they were not able to learn the names of those who participated in the affair or do anything to them because they had not seen the fight and held no warrants. Selean was told to appear in court today and swear out warrants against those who assaulted him.

H. W. EARL EXONERATED.

Received Money Irregularly, But Not With Criminal Intent.

H. W. Earl, former storekeeper of the board of education, was exonerated last evening by the board, sitting as committee of the whole, of criminal intent in irregularly receiving money for books. The committee found he broke the rules of the board when he accepted money, but took the view that he did not intend to be criminal.

took the view that he did not intend to be criminal.

Mr. Earl still has money in his possession, which he received for books, which will be forthcoming when the finance committee completes its work of checking up the books in the schools and the storeroom. The amounts aggregate less than $10. The charges against Mr. Farl were considered in executive session. The suspension of Mr. Earl by the old finance committee was ignored.

During the progress of the evening, President Glauque announced his committees as follows for 1963:

Rules—A. G. Giauque, Joseph Geoghegan, L. F. Branting, M. J. Cheeseman, W. A. Neiden

SURPRISES IN "DOINGS."

Press Club Affair Promises to Be Largely Attended.

A number of surprises are in store for those who attend the "doings" at the Press club tomorrow evening. The comthose who attend the "doings" at the Press club tomorrow evening. The committee in charge is keeping secret the details of the arrangements, but enough has leaked out to guarantee a full attendance of those who have received invitations.

The Press club will keep "open house" at its quarters, 241 South West Temple street, from 8 until 19 o'clock. The crowd will then cross the street to the Commercial club, where the "dollar dinner" will be served, and where the real "doings" will take place.

A general invitation is extended to members of the Commercial club and of the legislature. It is highly important that all those who wish to attend shall send notices of their acceptance, to reach the proper gersons not later than noon Saturday. Commercial club members may send their acceptances to Fisher Harris, assistant secretary, and all others should notify M. F. Cunningham, secretary of the Press club, in care of the Tribune.

WORKMEN FILE LIENS.

New York, Jan. 8.-Six liens, agat Hempstead, L. I., against Castle Gould, the country seat that Howard Gould is building at Sands Point, Port Washington. The contractors who filed the liens refuse to explain their reasons until the case is brought up in the Nassau county court. Mr. Gould had trouble with workmen last autumn and had deputy sheriffs to keep walking delegates off his premises.

MISS LAURA MATHIS TO GO UPON STAGE, MAKING HER DEBUT AT PORTLAND, ORE.

A NOTHER Salt Lake girl is to make her debut upon the stage. Miss Laura Mathis, will go with her sister, June Mathis, who is starring in Mark Swan's comedy, "Whose Baby Are You?" under the direction of Myron B. Rice. The company has added to its repertoire "My Friend From India," and will present the play in Portland, Ore, for the first time. In this Miss Laura Mathis will make her first appearance, playing the part of Bernice, a minor role in the comedy which made such a success when produced several seasons agó. She has already had two rehearsals here with John F. Warde. Her sister will have the part of Gertie in the same company.

Amusements

"Corianton," trimmed, revised and in some spots rewritten so that its closest friends failed to recognize it, was presented at the Salt Lake theatre before a large and friendly audience last night. It is impossible, of course, to criticise the new production without comparing it with the old. And it may be said in the beginning that the play itself does not sufter by the comparison.

The lines are better, the action. except that last night there were a few first-night hitches, is smoother, and the cast, as a whole, averages up better than the original cast. Miss Boyer as Zoan was a revelation. This Springville young woman is a distinct and a happy find. She is far superior to Miss Layne, her predecessor in the old cast, and if Miss Vigoreux's illness continues the play will not suffer in the slightest decree.

True, Miss Boyer's part is better now than the part Miss Layne had, but where the lines are the same, her interpretation was much more, effective. Mr. Ethier's than the part Miss Layne had, but where the lines are the same, her interpretation was much more, effective, Mr. Ethier's Corianton was not all that could be desired. Still, he has possibilities, and it he can get away from his monotone and his long drawn out agony over the death of Shibion, he may yet approach Mr. Haworth's rendition.

Mr. Seerie's Seantum, it is pleasant to note, is superior to the Seantum of Mr. Coleman. He seems to fit the part better, somehow, for he made a properly despicable villain. It is to be hoped that Mr. Percival will break away from his disagreeable habit of ending nearly every word with "ah." His Shiblon will not be effective until he does. The Bastol of Mr. Merket must not be judged too critically. He is funny in spots and with further experience in the part he should be able to fill it very acceptably.

The play is staged magnificently, of course, and will doubtless draw large audiences during the remainder of the engagement, which closes Saturday night, with a matinee on that day.

"Whose Baby Are You?" drew another.
